broad appeal

Korean manufacturer TYM's new 75hp ROPS tractor is attracting a lot of positive interest, its local distributor says

Inlon is bringing more of Korean manufacturer TYM's new 75 horsepower (56kW) utility tractor to Australia following a spike in demand. The TYM T75 utility tractor with rollover protection system comes with a four-cylinder Tier III diesel engine with intercooler for better torque – with a 12-speed shuttle transmission and a left-hand shuttle lever for easier operation.

It is equipped with hydrostatic power steering and inboard wet disc brakes for assisted turning in tight situations as well as a rear axle with diff-lock.

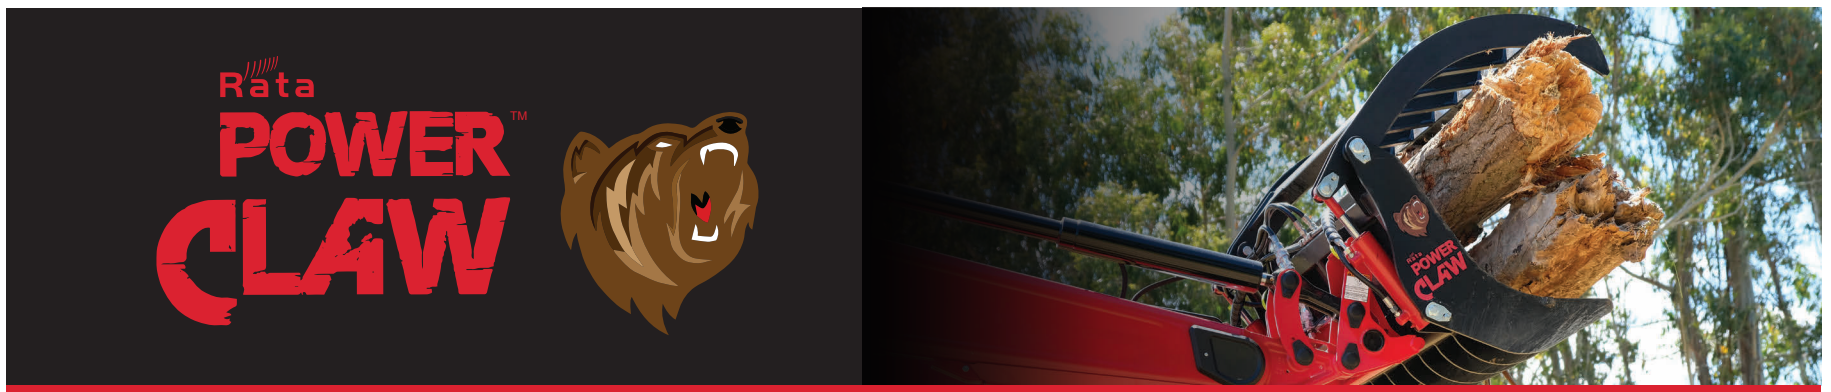

Inlon sales and marketing manager Gary Surman says the model is designed to provide buyers with more for their money.

"The level-lift loader with Euro hitch and a 4-in-1 bucket is standard equipment when a loader is ordered," he says.

"It also features a multidisc push button PTO [power take-off] for smooth engagement, three-point linkage with hydraulic speed lowering adjustment and a flat operator's platform to ensure clear unobstructed entry for the operator."

On top of this, the tractor has one set of double-acting hydraulic remotes, a three-point linkage lift capacity of 2,200kg and a top road speed of 38km/h. Surman says demand for the tractor has been steadily rising this year, following dealer feedback that bucks the trend for tractors with less than 100hp (75kW). The Tractor & Machinery Association of Australia announced in April that sales of tractors between 40hp and 100hp are currently down 9 per cent on where they were last year.

Surman says he has seen demand for the new tractors rise steadily. "TYM dealers reported that enquiries were up so we're increasing stock levels to meet demand," he says. "We're also expecting more buyer interest this financial year following the recent Federal Government increase in the instant asset write off threshold. With T75 pricing from $44,800 (inc. GST) including a 4-in-1 loader, this tractor is certainly an eligible product."
